Comments: I have pedaled more than 20,000 miles in the past 45 years on bicycles, many of those miles on or near USFS lands in the Pacific NW, California, Virginia, NC, VT and all over the U.S.

As I get older, I can't go as fast or as far. I have a Class 3 e-bike and it has extended my years riding, and I believe I will ride for another 20 years at least. But in USFS lands I need permission (as I will not break the rules). I will comply with rules, including speed and reduction of speed around users. Just as I have on my pedal bikes all these years. Any trail that is OK for MTB should be OK for my Class 3 e-MTB. My tires impact the ground the same way as the MTB tires. I can share the trail the same way as I always have, with consideration for my other human beings.

Please don't take the USFS land away from me. I and others can be responsible users.
