Comments: I am in favor of allowing class 1 pedal assist E-Bikes on trails where traditional bikes are allowed. I have heard the concerns of increased trail use which I do agree with to some extent however the more challenging trails still need a higher skill level to ride and will not be adversely impacted, I have experienced this every time I have left a crowded trail head and picked an advanced trail to ride and see very few if any people due to the difficulty and skills needed.

Some call E-Bikes cheating, I think riding a chair lift on US forest service land to coast down a trail the ultimate cheating. (still Fun)

I have seen many people of all ages riding together one on an E-Bike and the stronger on a traditional bike. I ride both and find they each are great ways to be outdoors,
