Comments: I am an avid hike and biker and respect the desire for people to experience the outdoors. However, I do not respect the selfishness that people want to access everything, at all times, and without restrictions. I do not support the use of any motorized e-bikes on non-motorized trails, even for Class 1. They should be allowed on roads, and any other designated motorized trails. The argument for allowing them on non-motorized trails seems thin. Several letters I read stated something to the effect of, "I'm in my 60s and I don't ride fast." Although this may be true for that individual, it does not mean it is true for anyone on an e-bike. The rules are made for everyone, not only those who choose to "ride slow." As far as access to the outdoors, yes, we all have access to outdoors via BLM, NFS roads, and motorized trails. Asking for additional access on an e-bike is merely asking for more, without reason, which will take away from the experience of non-motorized trails. Many people on non-motorized trails are there to actually experience nature, you know..without a motor.
