Comments: I'm 68 and don't use an ebike, but see no insurmountable problems with their use. Where I live, the use of ebikes by those over 65, or with disabilities is currently being tried. I see people out on the trails with them (some people clearly not in these categories) and I just haven't encountered a problem. I expect, by the time I'm 70, I'll be trying one out. It's a great opportunity to open up outdoor activities to all sorts of people.
