Comments: I am in favor of e-bikes (especially class 1) being allowed on forest service land. I am 57 years old and currently riding my e bike on motorcycle trails and feel like they definitely DO NOT belong there. For one thing it's dangerous when motorcycles are going by and throwing up rocks when I have no face mask or protective clothing.

My husband rides a regular bike and we ride together and I don't go any faster up or down hills than him. My bike certainly doesn't rip up trails any more than a regular bike and certainly nothing like horses or motorcycles. At my age I feel incredibly lucky to be able to enjoy nature and forests on my bike without working so dang hard and tiring much sooner than others. E bikes are absolutely amazing and I can now ride longer distance and more days.

I really have no idea why ANYONE whatsoever would want to limit people from being active and enjoying nature on a bike?. The bikes are silent and nearly undetectable from a regular bike.

Motorcycle trails are not where ebikes should be. E bikes are more like a regular bike with a battery assist, what's the big deal?
