Comments: I support allowing pedal assist e-bike access on USFS bike trails. While I don't own an e-bike myself, as a fellow trail user I don't see them as problematic when used and managed correctly. It will be important for the Forest Service to solicit feedback from other trail users and (especially) trail maintenance crews on any changes to existing policy to make sure that granting e-bike access does not have the negative impacts that many trail users fear; however, I don't see any downsides to allowing e-bike access that can be revoked if problems arise.
