Comments: It is in the best interest of the public to allow the Stibnite Project to proceed. Without the commitment to correct the destruction of critical environmental conditions, the unacceptable exposure of tailings will continue for the foreseeable future. A key milestone of this project should be the restoration of the salmon runs. If this reclamation is performed to the satisfaction of the forest service, the environmental conditions will have been approved significantly enough to demonstrate the good will of the mining project. Such an investment in good will, will further ensure that the miner will wish to remain compliant with all regulations while expanding into the active mining phase.

I am a small investor who is also interested in the environment, improving fishing, local economy, and national security. Please approve the project.
