Comments: Please consider this a very strong objection to use the Categorical Exclusion for the Dan Antonio Drilling Project. This is an important area in our local ecosystem and indeed in our country. In addition to its role as a potential home, we hope, to the Yellow-Billed Cuckoo, a federally threatened species, it is an important habitat for many other species.

My extended family and I have enjoyed this area for many years. We know that it can't be duplicated or replaced. We all believe that any decision regarding its future must be made with all due consideration and care. This cannot and will not happen if a Categorical Exclusion is granted. Thank you.
