Comments: I have almost been run over many times while hiking on otherwise beautiful trails. I see the scars of bikers who zoon down the trails at high speeds and then turn to make a sudden stop or go off trail. These practices are ruining both trails, protected land and the experience of respectful hikers. While not all bikers are disrespectful, the vast majority are speeding on the trails and on narrower sections this is truely dangerous for all. I am very much against allowing bikes on trails. Thanks for hearing me out.
