Comments: I am very alarmed about opening up our public lands to e-bikes. They are dangerous and because they are silent will take wildlife and pedestrians by surprise. I have first hand experience with it as I ended up at the doctor after being hit by an E- Bike in NYC. It was coming around a corner at the same time as I was walking and it was going so fast that it couldn't stop in time. This is a very bad proposal. Plus- because they can go so fast, riders tend to get out of control and drive recklessly.
