

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/21/2020 8:22:41 PM

First name: Karen

Last name: Kindel

Organization:

Title:

Comments: I just read an article in the latest Smithsonian magazine about the intrusion of noise and devices in wilderness. There are almost no places left that do not have some form of human intrusion including planes flying over numerous times a day. Why do we need to introduce another apparatus/device to further add to the cacophony? We should be trying to decrease these annoyances. So sad.

"Silence is the think tank of the soul"