Comments: On one of my many day hikes here on the Wasatch nation forest I witnessed a pair of battery powered bicycles run over a Ruffed grouse on the trail. That has stayed with me and reminds me how much of a impact a nonhuman powered bicycle can have on larger upland fowl. My family and I spend a lot of time in the Forest and hi alpine deserts of the west and have come to notice when effort is put out to reach theses places, people tend to care for the outdoors more. Thank you for your time.
