

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/21/2020 11:36:18 PM

First name: Cynthia

Last name: Tuell

Organization:

Title:

Comments: E-bikes do not belong on trails in the wilderness or even, I believe, anywhere in the National Forest. Trail bikers often travel recklessly fast. It's often hard for a hiker to get out of the way, and if you're hiking with children or a dog or both, trail bikers pose a real danger. E-bikes will be worse because they are quieter and faster. They will disrupt the forest for other people and for wild life.