Comments: I oppose allowing e-bikes on national forest trails of any kind. Firstly they pose an immediate threat to the wild nature of our national forests. These lands are meant to be enjoyed as naturally as possible as to not pervert the wild beauty that is the very thing we love them for. I live in the city of Chicago and I can tell you that they pose a large threat to public safety and the character of the city. How much more will they threaten a wild forest and it's animal inhabitants? Please do not allow e-bikes to ruin our national lands.
