

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/22/2020 12:43:59 AM

First name: Richard

Last name: Fehr

Organization:

Title:

Comments: During one of my botany classes we participated in a study in the Everglades. One of the surprising findings of the study was that our foot travels during the multiday study had significant measurable ecological damage. Therefore it be my recommendation to adopt changes to any directive which would provide the greatest limitation on the amount of traffic.