Comments: I am against e-bikes in National Forest Lands. Allowing them opens a slippery slope since e-bikes will get much more powerful as battery technology gets much better in the near future. As with cars, battery powered cars now go faster and further than motorized cars and are much more powerful. Think what e-bikes will be 10-20 years in the future. It's easy to draw the line on motorized bikes. However, once you allow motorized bikes, it is impossible to draw the line on them to regulate them.
