Comments: At this time there are quite a number of places where Class 1 ebikes are allowed anywhere non-ebikes may go. Thus we have data to go by, instead of these idiotic auto generated messages flooding this site.

I myself am an enthusiastic Class 1 ebikes rider. I have yet to encounter deer that are startled more by my ebike, than by a non-ebike. Trail erosion is likely less using an ebike, because going downhill with a heavier ebike demands a more controlled speed. I do go out much more frequent, and I do wander farther on my ebike. That's good for my health. If that is not good for the environment, maybe we should close all nature areas to everyone.
