Comments: As a frequent visitor to our national forests, I am concerned about the potential impact e-bikes of any type will have on these areas.

Although I am an avid bicyclist and motorcyclist, it is clear that wheeled vehicles of any type (including human-powered bicycles) have a disproportionate impact on our public lands.

While I commend you for proactively addressing the growing use of e-bikes, I do not believe they belong on National Forest bicycling, walking, hiking or horse trails in any configuration.

Thank you.
