Comments: I am new to the e bike thing and I think it is super cool. I do think there should be some designation between e bike and acoustic bikes. For instance, a place like cache should probably be left to acoustic bikes. However, if you are going to use old pass road on an ebike to access directional downhill trails(at which point there is no pedaling involved) that should be allowed. A ride like the classic shadow where you pedaled the road and then the rest was downhill would be fine as well. It would help with the traffic issues on the pass. If I were deeply involved, I would break down the high use cross country zones and protect those for acoustic bikes. I would evaluate what directional downhill trails have potential for shared access(like old pass road or shadow mountain road) and allow those to have electric and acoustic. Then I would look on a case by case basis at the more remote non motorized trails and determine if and of them make sense to open to electric and acoustic.
