Comments: Please leave mountain biking as it has been, where we work hard to build trails and then work really hard to earn our ride. There's something addictive about that feeling when you use your own human power to propel us thru rugged areas. Let's not change everything in to a dirt bike trail, I am out working on trail crews and building trails and camping out in the mountains so my hands get dirty. We can share trails with pedal assisted bikes for people who want to work but can't do it by themselves. No Throttles please!!!!
