Comments: Ebikes don't belong in wilderness. Especially on single track. They defeat the purpose of stacked trail systems and because they're hard to identify, rule enforcement will be next to impossible. I fear that as problems and user conflicts arise hard fought access for Mountain Bikes will be lost. Ebikes are also very easy to modify. A few minutes on youtube and a little money and the limits on ebikes can be easily bypassed. Please keep motors out of the wilderness.
