Comments: I am opposed to the Forest Service's proposal to open up any National Forest land to E-Bikes. E-bikes travel fast, endangering hikers and wildlife. They also have a long range, allowing mechanical intrusion deep into wilderness areas. Also, no environmental studies have been performed to evaluate the impact of the proposed action. Finally, the Forest Service does not have the resources to monitor or enforce rules restricting the use of E-Bikes to certain areas, causing trail damage and disruption to wildlife.
