Comments: E bikes are electric and therefore not the same classification as a manual pedal bike. I've personally had ebikes come up behind me unannounced on trails at a high rate of speed and created unsafe situations equal to what you would have if you were on a silent motorcycle. I say this being a strong climber and faster than average downhill rider that has never experienced these situations with other pedal bikes in all my years of riding. In short, ebikes should be in the same class as motorcycles, not pedal bikes. Thanks
