Comments: As an avid bicyclist, mountain biker and bikepacker I implore the United States Forest Service to keep Ebikes off of all USFS trails where bicycles are allowed and to never allow any form of wheeled vehicle into federally designated wilderness. As a bicyclist I can find plenty of places to ride on and off road without the need to impact these protected areas. Further, any contraption with a motor is, by definition, a motorized vehicle and has no place on a trail meant for human powered travel. There are already more than enough roads for those activities. I am 60 years old and understand that I will not always be able to go where I want, when I want.
