Comments: As a trail runner and horse back rider I have concerns about encountering an electric bike on the trails. It's bad enough to have been in a near collision with a mountain bike while riding up hill on my horse. Mind you I always have bells on to help others on the trail know we are near. But with people wearing ear buds and just going too fast on switchbacks it presents a dangerous condition. On my encounter my horse and I ended up in the brush fortunately not over the side. I just don't think we need additional challenges add to the trail.
