Comments: I have three comments:

I am not comfortable with our level of understanding of ground water effects of this project. Ground water quality affects animals, people, and plants, and these effects can be basically forever in a human time frame.

Also, the carbon dioxide emissions, in this time of needing to face climate change reality, are questionable.

Finally, I feel that the effects of the construction and activity of this project will interfere with the recreational value of the area, and with the life of residents.
