Comments: I know I'm not the best fit person out hiking, so to use an Ebike would be great... ??

Since I'm not the most fit and well-hiked, being able to go "further on the trail" and see wilderness that I couldn't bodily get to on my own without being out all day, it be amazing...

However! I know that I wouldn't be able to walk back if the Ebike decided to die on me, I'd be stranded further out from where I normally could walk back from, I could also be lost because I wouldn't pay attention to which trails I would take (kinda ADHD) and just go cruising. And if I ran into some crazy wildlife (not sure how loud a Ebike is) then I would be less prepared to protect myself.
