Comments: As an active hiker, bicyclist and equestrian, I am opposed to the idea of enabling the use of e-bikes on federal lands. Simply put, e-bikes can go farther and faster, which especially in hilly terrain can be threatening to other trail users. . Five years ago, my ankle was broken when the horse I was riding spun out while encountering a mountain biker on a downhill blind curve. I foresee more incidences like this for trail users if e-bikes get the green light. After all, to mountain e-bikes, the thrill is in the downhill.

Thank you for your consideration.
