Comments: If allowing ebikes on trails means changing the trail classification to "motorized," then I don't support allowing ebikes. I'd like to keep as many trails open to mountain bikes as possible. However, I had a avid mountain biker friend who got ALS. He bought an ebike and was able to continue mountain biking with his friends with a little help on the hills. Later in his illness, he used a motorized wheel chair on some trails. It seems to me there should be exceptions to the nonmotorized ruled to allow for slow-moving electric assisted devices. Perhaps you could manage different classes of ebikes. But please don't allow motor bikes on nonmotorized trails.
