Comments: I do not want to share horse trails with E bikes. They are easily changed by removing the governor which allows them to go upwards of 40 mph. In my experience trails with bikes and horses, although posted that pedestrians and horses have the right of way, and bikes are to yield to them, they don't. They come up fast and quiet behind your horse, and cause dangerous spooks, as horses are prey animals, and their first response is to flee. Not all bikers are rude, but I have come across my fair share who would practically run you over as they fly around curves, and over hills, thrill seekers who expect you to get out of their way. This does nothing for the folks, riding or hiking, who are out to enjoy the sights and sounds of nature, not to see how fast they can go, with their headsets on, oblivious to their surroundings.
