Comments: As the USFS contemplates policy change to open non-motorized trails to e-bikes, a reminder that the latest e-bikes resemble bikes the way an F-16 resembles a fly. The basic shape is the same but the similarities end there. When you read words such as "pedals optional" and speeds to 50 mph, you know that is not a bike and should be restricted to motorized trails. That said, I understand the proposed rules limit power and speed. Nonetheless, from the practical standpoint of enforcement, the rule is toothless. The beauty and serenity of non-motorized trails derive from the pace at which they are enjoyed. Please protect one of the last places on earth one can move at the slow and patient pace of nature and do not open non-motorized trails to e-bike use.
