Comments: Keep the outdoors wild.

People with documented physical or mental disabilities should be able to use ebikes anywhere regular bikes are allowed. Ebikes should be generally disallowed, with a special permit for disabilities. That permitting system should be completely free so as to not create a prejudicial barrier to quality of life for those people with mental or physical disabilities. However, people with full mental and physical faculty should not be allowed to recreate in the wild on motorized bikes. Ebikes will exacerbate the already growing problem of too much traffic and trash in the backcountry.
