Comments: I would like the USFS to allow e-bikes on trail. I am a life long cyclist, equestrian, and hiker. I have an e-bike and a regular mountain bike. My e-bike does not go any faster on trail than other bikes, if anything, I go slower precisely because I don't need to get a lot of momentum to get up hills. And as an older rider, I am much more conservative in my riding than many younger riders who are on bicycles that are not e-bikes. I feel that trail users should all follow the rules and co-exist, and a horse that is afraid of an e-bike on trail will also be afraid of regular bikes and that is a training issue for the rider of the horse. Horses can also be deathly afraid of people with backpacks, llamas, motorcycles, small children, ATV's, dogs, and a host of other things, and I hope that policies are not made based on what poorly trained horses might be afraid of. I hope that more trails will open up to e-bike use. Thank you.
