Comments: I'm an equestrian that also bikes, hikes and tigers trail events. I cannot stand coming across bikes while on horseback...it's so dangerous to the equestrians. They bikes or quads never ever respect the trail etiquette, spook the horses on purpose, and are destructive to our footing!! Keep horses separate from the rest...you cannot be serious about taking away the safety of equestrians?! It's bad enough on one local trail site dedicated to horses only they have a bike trail the crosses over in a few spots and literally impossible to see them coming as they zoom thru in front or behind your horses!?!?? Almost was hurt badly when a dirt bike sped nearby on a multi use state park...there should be separate only for horses. How can you even compare a horse trail need to the motorized trail needs?! They are completely different footing, widths, speeds, need for watering, parking live animal transports, destruction of grounds and soil, and a horse won't leave an oil spill, or needs fuel that also spills into the ground, or leave behind nasty fumes.
