Comments: Letting any bike on horse trails creates not only a dangerous situation for the horse and rider but also for the bike rider. I was trailriding in a metro park on a trail where bikes were not allowed. I was riding up a slight hill and around a bend with trees blocking what was coming from the opposite direction. All of a sudden my horse and I saw a teen age boy come riding his bike from the opposite direction. It startled me and startled my horse so bad she spun around and kicked. She spun around so fast that it broke 1 of her reins and was running at an all out gallop running for her life. Luckily for me she is a well trained horse and can be ridden with voice command and I am a good rider or I may have gotten killed. Luckily for the boy on the bike that he did not get kicked in the head, or he could have gotten killed.
