Comments: Please do not open equestrian or hiking trails to motorized vehicles. This would defeat the object of enjoying the wildlife and natural habitats so many come to see and appreciate at these undeveloped, relatively undisturbed locations. Motorized vehicles would bring unwanted noise and air pollution in these areas, as well as disrupt breeding and feeding habitats for resident wildlife and vegetation. These vehicles also disrupt and frighten horses, people and pets who may be using these trails with loud noise and high speeds, which they are not accustomed to. Perhaps alternate routes, sidewalks or different areas could be made available along existing access roads for these vehicles, where wildlife is already accustomed to the noise and air pollution from cars, but speed limits could be reduced to make existing roads safe for all motorized vehicles. They do not belong on nature trails. Thank you!
