Comments: Having been an avid horse person and trail rider, I would be opposed having electric bikes on trails that are designated for non motorized use or mountain bike use. I have seen too many regular mountain bikers go flying by a person on a horse, startling the animal causing the rider to either be thrown, try to control a run away or work at settling their mount down. I've also seen a mountain biker get kicked from riding his bike up on a horse unannounced, causing that biker severe, permanent injuries. There are plenty of places for mountain and electric powered bikers to ride, but the places for horse back riding on trails is becoming smaller and smaller.
