Comments: I strongly oppose allowing the use of e-bikes (electronic bikes) on hiking trails in our national forests. E-bikes should be classified as a motor vehicle for regulation purposes, as they create noise, disturb wildlife, potentially could cause injury to hikers and wildlife, and take away from the serenity of hiking in the wilderness. The use of e-bikes should be constrained to a minimal number of designated trails in the national forests. I do not believe there should be any e-bike trails allowed in our National Parks, to maintain the serenity and enjoyment of the vast majority of the visiting public.
