Comments: Ebikes should be allowed on trails where bikes are allowed. Zero emissions and little to no torque does no damage to trail systems. America needs to be accessible to more people than just the outdoor elite. The more people you let experience it the more people you have to protect it and enjoy it. Leaving the back country available only to the few is a crime against American Citizens. Americans should be able to experience America and this little advantage will open the doors for more opportunities to more people. These aren't dirt bikes, they are Pedal Assist! They still have pedals and need plenty of human input. Let them ride!
