Comments: I grew up in Idaho and am currently living in Boise due to covid and being a college student. This does not benefit any American. Why? well polluting a river, destroying some of the last remaining habitats of bull trout, for a company that isn't American does not benefit us. Sure a few short-term jobs may be created but we already are a net exporter of gold why mine more? And maybe it costs money to protect but if you ever go to the south fork of the salmon and spend 20 minutes just watching it and think to yourself you can put a value on that beauty and it's yours to sell-off; you are heartless. Idaho isn't heartless save this river.
