

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/28/2020 12:34:57 PM

First name: Kelsie

Last name: Maney

Organization:

Title:

Comments: River headwaters are places where living systems start and depend on. The destruction of such public land not only effects human activities downstream, it impacts a whole web of life that you depend upon to stay alive. There must be better places to mine. Headwaters are not the place.