Dear Ms. Jackson,

I am writing to urge the Forest Service to extend the public comment period deadline to the full 120 days. The DEIS document is gargantuan and is very time consuming to read. As the DEIS took several years to complete, 120 days is a small percentage of time comparable to the time it took to draft the study. Secondly, I've found the only helpful way to make it through this voluminous document is with the help of others. In a time of the COVID-19 Pandemic, getting together in large groups has become difficult or not possible for many. In a time of responsible gathering, it is imperative that the USFS extend the deadline so the public has the full ability under NEPA to review the documents in the DEIS for the Stibnite project. Thank you for insuring a safe and fair public input process.

Thank you
