Comments: I have only been out west a handful of times. I keep going back out west because of the waterways. The rivers are what make me go back, the fishing. I know that the mine will take away what I love and I know what many others love too. I am completely against it. We have seen too many rivers suffer from pollution and with that, the fish. Wild Steelhead and Salmon are already facing a difficult run with fighting their waters over hatchery fish. The pollution from the mine will affect the fish population which will lead to drinking water and the water animals drink, etc. This can be stopped and needs to be.
