Comments: I have grown up spending summers enjoying the beauty this area has to behold. Any disruption to the wildlife and environment would be a true travesty, this place is what makes our planet special. We should take any measures to protect and conserve the Southfork. Extorting the planet for gold and gain is no where near worth the cost, we have done that in many places in the world and look how it has turned out. Idaho has historically been great at protecting its land but if this is lost then Idaho has absolutely failed.
