Comments: The population of the United States continues to grow, increasing the need for clean water for her citizens to drink. Our country has also seen recreation surge in the last few decades as more people explore their cherished public lands and interact with nature. Please help protect these opportunities for the future. We do not need more gold or minerals to be ripped out of the earth, or more poison ponds. We need to ensure futures generations have the same opportunities we have had on this finite planet. Please do not allow yet another mine to poison the riches of the future, prioritize the protection of these waters and lands, no more gold mines.
