Comments: I have worked in the mining/industrial community for 10+ years. Now that I have learned more about life i see the positive impacts that it has had on me. Not to mention the opportunities I had growing up in a mining community. Here's a few examples. Health care. For me I took it for granted growing up, not worrying if I got sick, broke a bone or anything that I would be taken care of. Now that I have a family of my own it is extremely nice to have so many options in southeast Idaho of employers who offer good health care, retirement plus all the other job benefits. Last thing I will say is people who are against mining do not look to see the benefits both as individuals or community based including Environmental Impact.
