Comments: My land adjoins the National Forest. I've lived here since 1991. To me it is important that the forest be maintained in a way that promotes healthy plants and wildlife. George Imrie, a dendrochronologist, has posted some very good points that I hope you consider. These include examining how off the road vehicles to see if they are causing damage from erosion; limit controlled burns to improve air quality; no oil or gas production on Forest Service land; and collaborate with Congressman Westerman on the Trillion Tree Act (HR 5859)
