Comments: Closing public lands and limiting access to those lands is a bad idea. I understand the need to 'protect' the environment and such. Restrictions only serve to further limit the publics ability to escape the day to day monotony of life.

I love dispersed camping and exploring in my vehicle. I always pack out more than I bring in and am a good steward. There are many like me. We report and turn in the problem children as we find them. Focus resources on locating and charging the bad apples. Please don't lock gates on the rest of us.

Thank you.
