Comments: I've noticed the area around Mt. Herman is much cleaner and safer since shooting was restricted five or so years ago. Before this restriction I had near misses with bullets and had encountered shooters on trails with my young children. There was even a popular shooting spot that people would shoot from an overlook across a valley. I think more shooting specific ranges would assist in educating shooters, give a safe, backstopped, place to shoot, and localize trash. Public ranges would also relive pressure off other recreational users.
