Comments: I think preserving shooting opportunities on public lands is important. Uncontrolled shooting is both destructive and unsafe. As a shooter and a recreationalist of many other activities like running, mountain biking, and dirt biking; I understand that there must be balance. Free-for-all is not safe and outright ban infringes on some users rights to satisfy the demands of others. I believe that designated target shooting ranges should be established and maintained in order to focus shooting in areas which are safest and concentrate impact to manageable areas. These ranges should be open dawn to dusk and free to use. If possible provisions should be added to any restrictions on target shooting to allow for sighting in of hunting firearms outside the designated shooting ranges.
